NEW SINGING BOOK PATENT NOTES: THE HARP OF THE SOUTH;

A new and extensive collection of Church Music, by I. B. Woodbury, author of the Dulcimer, Liber Musicus, &c. THIS book embraces many new features, and, it is confidently believed, will be found the most comprehensive. attractive and useful work of the kind ever issued. It has been prepared in answer to numerous calls from the South and West, and embraces the Gems from all the most popular round note books in the country, together with much new Music written expressly for its pages. By special arrangement, the right to use the favorite compositions of LOWELL Mason, Esq., the distinguished composer and editor, has been obtained, and a careful selection from his very popular works, the Handel and Haydn Society's Collection; The BOSTON ACADEMY'S COLLECTION; THE CARMINA SACRA, (O) which last work alone over 300,000 copies have been sold,) LIBERTY STOVE WORKS AND HOLLOW-WARE and others, has been made. Selections have also been made from the works of Thomas Hastings and William B. Brad-SURY, Esqs. as well as from the other most distinguished American and Foreign Composers. The choicest pieces have also been inserted from The Dulcimer, by Mr. Woodbury, work which has had the astonishing sale of 125,000 copies n the short time since its publication.

Some idea of the extent and variety of this work may be tiven by mentioning that beside a very large number of salm and Hymn Tunes of all Meters, Anthems, and Set Pieces, for all occasions, and Revival Hymns, and Music, it lso contains a large number of Juvenile Songs for the Saboath School and Social Circle, and a collection of Secular Pieces, but of a Moral Cast, for the use of Singing Schools, &c. To the whole is prefixed The Elements of Music Made Easy, being a full exposition of the subject, illustrated by numerous Exercises and pleasing pieces for class practice. Teachers, Choristers and others interested are invited o examine this work. Retail price $1 00.

An Old Story .- BY MRS. L. H. SIGOURNEY.

Says Tom to Jem, as forth they went To walk one evening fine,
"I wish the sky a great green field,
And all that pasture mine."

"And I," says Jem, "wish yonder stars. That there so idly shine,

Were every one a good fat ox, And all those oxen mine." Where would your herd of cattle graze ?"

"Why, in your pasture fair."
"They should not, that's a fact," said Tom; " They shall not, I declare."

With that they frowned, and struck, and fought, And fiercely stood at bay, And for a foolish fancy cast Their old regard away.

And many a war, on broader scale, Hath stained the earth with gore, For castles in the air that fell Before the strife was o'er.

"The travellers replied in the affirmative. "Do you know by what secret he prolonged his life to the ripe old age of nine hundred and sixty-nine years ?" "The travellers professed their profound ignorance. Forthwith the old Arab fumbled, with his ebon hands, about the folds of his turban, and presently drew therefrom a tattered piece of parehment so dirty, besmeared with grease and discolored by age, that the Arab characters written upon it could be deciphered only by the most practised Arabic scholar. One of the travellers happened to be a proficient in Arabic. He begged the old man to allow him to peruse the precious document. To this the wily Arab consented, on the condition that it should remain in his own hands, and that he should receive a large sum of money for allowing the gentleman to transcribe its contents. These preliminaries having been arranged, the party entered the nearest tent, and the travellers became possessed of the invaluable life-preserver. On their return to Mr. Prattles was a poor man.
